As little as twenty years ago the market for log homes was aimed at the do-it-yourself client. There was nothing greater than to have a stamp of self on a log home than the hands on experience of stacking your own logs with friends & family. Like the weather things change and have they changed within the community of the system built industry. Boomers, if your like me you have heard that enough times to fill the ocean but it is true and their time is now. More than ever Wood House Homes has seen the trend shift from I'll do it to I want it done for me. Wood

House Construction, Inc. for the past 14 years has done just that. Wood House Construction, Inc. will and does provide complete turn key service in several states and most notably provides complete dry-in or erection service throughout the United States, Hawaii, Europe, South America and Asia or anywhere else a customer would like to build a home. What better way to provide total customer satisfaction than provide total customer care and service.
